

PEACE AND QUIET REPORTED ALONG YOUNGSTOWN FRONT

Not A Single Disorder is Reported in Area Where Nat'l Guards Are Located

30,000 MEN ARE IDLE

A Total of 149 Persons Are in Jail, Most of Them Outsiders

(By International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 23.—Backed by the military forces of the State, peace and quiet ruled today on the turbulent steel strike front here.

Nowhere along the 25-mile sector occupied by the Ohio National Guard units was there a single outbreak of disorder following a week-end of terror and rioting in which two were killed and two-score wounded.

Thirty thousand men were still out of work here in the vast CIO steel strike against Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube, with 70,000 out in six other States where plants of the two companies and Inland and Bethlehem Steel are being picketed. The strike will enter its fifth week tomorrow.

A total of 149 persons were in jail, most of them outsiders, including several from the Pittsburgh district. Many of those arrested faced charges of carrying concealed weapons when arraigned for a hearing today.

Strike Situation

While steel plants in seven States remain idle, proposed legislation to prohibit strikes during negotiations for settlement of industrial disputes gained favor today at Washington.

President Roosevelt has on his desk today a firmly worded reply to his telegram of two days ago calling on the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company and Republic Steel to keep their strike-locked plants closed pending results of negotiations to settle the steel strike. Frank Purnell, president of the Youngstown company, sent the reply. He told International News Service this in an exclusive telephone interview from his home in Youngstown. He would not give out the text.

Undaunted by the break up of their first conference aimed at settling the disastrous seven-state steel strike, the Federal Mediation Board was to open a second general conference with the two bitterly contending parties, the employers and the union, here today.

Despite threats of intervention by the Pennsylvania National Guard, 256 sit-down strikers today held possession of the Apex Hosiery Mill, in Philadelphia, in defiance of an eviction order of the U. S. District Court.

May Mine Harbors

London, June 23.—A special telegraph dispatch from Berlin, today said it was rumored Chancellor Hitler may decide to mine the entrances of Cartagena and Valencia harbors, thus effecting a naval blockade of Loyalist Spain.

Germans Sneer at Champion

Berlin, June 23.—The German press sneered heavily at the new "world heavyweight champion," dusky Joe Louis. The German newspapers adopted the attitude that Louis—the non-Aryan—is no champion in the eyes of loyal Nazis. And the head of the German Boxing Association made the German view of the international pugilistic situation even plainer, when he stated: "Schmeling is now the undisputed world champion!"

Those attending: the Misses Gladys Weik, Violet Ruth Ranck, Mary Watson, Bertha Borchers, Vivian Werner, Margaret Wilkinson, Wayne Mulholland, Francis McVaine, Harry Erny, R. Hart, Stanley Dick.

FARM-HAND SENTENCED; IS GUILTY OF ARSON

John P. Mitchell, 48, Trevoze, Admits Attempting To Burn House

ATTENTIONS REPULSED

DOYLESTOWN, June 23.—A Trevoze farm-hand, who yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of arson, was sentenced by Judge Calvin S. Boyer, to serve from eight to 16 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The one sentenced, John P. Mitchell, 48, who admitted setting fire to the residence of Mrs. Mary E. Bennett, Trevoze, early on the morning of June 12th, was involved in a case which set a record for quick clearance in the Bucks county courts. The deed was committed on June 12th, and today Mitchell is enroute to the penitentiary.

Judge Boyer told Mitchell he was unfit to be at large.

The fire had been set, according to testimony given, by Mitchell, who became incensed when Mrs. Bennett's daughter, Mrs. Ethel Reed, repulsed his attentions.

Mrs. Reed was one of those who gave testimony in court yesterday. She told of threats made by Mitchell last April to burn the house and all those in it. Others who testified were County Fire Marshal William L. Stackhouse, Hulmeville; Corporal William Herman, Doylestown barracks of State police; and Mrs. Charlotte Ginter, a boarder at the Bennett home, who discovered the blaze.

Only slight damage was done around the door at the rear of the Bennett home, the loss being estimated at $25. Yesterday Mitchell stated he waited until all the family was in the house so that "someone would discover the fire."

Mitchell was employed on the farm of Frank Spinelli, a neighbor of the Bennett family. It was shortly after Mrs. Reed's return to her home shortly after midnight, on June 12th, that the fire was set, it is claimed. Mitchell had previously admitted to authorities that he stuffed old burlap bags soaked with oil into the crevices of a rear door, and set them afire, then went home to bed. Charred pieces of an old newspaper, left near the blaze, and which Mitchell later told he had used as a cork for the bottle of oil, matched up with portions of a newspaper found in his room. Mitchell was arrested on June 14th and confessed on June 17th.

TONSILS REMOVED
Raymond Stevens, Trenton, N. J., had his tonsils removed in Harriman Hospital, yesterday.

SENTENCE WOMAN CAUGHT AT CROYDON PARTY YARDLEY TO ENFORCE FIREWORKS ORDINANCE

Sent to Muncy State Industrial School for Indeterminate Period

CAUGHT IN A RAID

DOYLESTOWN, June 23.—Screaming "My baby, my baby," Thelma Hopwood, Merchantville, N. J., was carried from the court room yesterday after she had been sentenced to the Muncy State Industrial School for an indeterminate period by Judge Calvin S. Boyer.

Thelma Hopwood, alias Jean Davis, alias Thelma Ross was charged with aiding and abetting in an immoral show. She was arrested April 23rd, when State Policemen Harold Dando, Walter Haman and Felix Gowan, Corporal William Herman, Detective Russo, Constables Seader, Morris and Christ raided the old Blue Moon Inn at Croydon.

The officers arrived in the midst of a party being staged by a social club from Philadelphia and at the time it was stated there were a number of women and men in the place. A number of those in the place escaped by jumping out of the windows and other means of exit.

The woman told the court she was 21 years of age and was a former beauty school student.

Number of Cases on Relief Shows Only Slight Change

During the week ending June 12 there was a pause in the rather continuous decline which has been observed in the relief caseload in Bucks County throughout the past three months. Thus, with a total of 317 cases, consisting of 1,204 persons, carried on the direct relief rolls at the end of the current week, it is noted that there was practically no change from the total carried at the end of the previous week.

An analysis of the total relief load comprising the case, showed that the average number of persons per case carried on the rolls during the current week amounted to 3.8 persons. This was almost identical with the figure shown in a similar analysis made a month ago when the average size family was 3.7 persons per case. It may also be noted, that lone persons comprise 51 cases, or 16.1 percent of the total number of cases carried on the rolls at present.

Judge Boyer Hands Down Decree in Estate

DOYLESTOWN, June 23.—Judge Calvin S. Boyer handed down an opinion and decree in the estate of the late Hon. Henry W. Watson, deceased. Executors and the decedent's widow contended that under the last codicil to the will the payment of all legacies including legacies to servants, cemeteries and churches were to be postponed and, if necessary, used for the payment of the minimum annual income of $25,000 to the decedent's widow, which would, in effect, destroy those legacies.

The Court held that only legacies of income from the residuary trust estate should abate sufficiently to make up the widow's minimum income during her life and that all other legacies should be paid immediately.

The opinion was concurred in by President Judge Hiram H. Keller and Judge J. Burnett Holland of the Orphans' Court of Montgomery County who sat with the Bucks County Judges at argument.

NAME BRISTOL MAN TO REPRESENT SCOUTS

Dr. J. J. Willaman, Bristol, and Wm. Burgess, Morrisville, To Go To Washington

28TH ANNUAL SESSION

Dr. J. J. Willaman, of Bristol, and Council Scout Commissioner William Burgess, Jr., of Morrisville, are to represent the Bucks County Scouting Council at Washington, D. C., during the 28th annual meeting of the Boy Scouts of America. Alternate from the Bucks County Council will be District Commissioner Herbert A. Pettit, Sr., of Bristol. The men will attend the meeting on the National Jamboree grounds at Washington on Friday, July 2nd. They will eat lunch at the Jamboree camp and will take an extensive tour of the camp during the remainder of the day. They were appointed by Dr. A. J. Strathie, president of the Bucks County Council at the Executive Board meeting at the Doylestown Inn last evening.

The great popularity of the Training Course for Scout leaders was spoken of by Training Chairman Walter W. Pitzonka. He spoke of the interest of the men attending the training camp at Buccoo last Saturday and Sunday. The courses offered were given by qualified speakers who made them very interesting. Seventy-three certificates of training have been awarded in the recent months to men taking advancement course in leadership.

The American Red Cross has requested the Scouting Council to appoint a representative to their disaster relief committee, and President Strathie appointed chairman of the health and safety committee, Harold W. Thompson, of Bristol. The advancement of Scouting knowledge on the part of Boy Scouts was given by Hon. Hiram H. Keller, chairman of the Court of Honor committee, and it included the statistics of: 73 second class badges, 19 first class badges, 8 star scout, 5 life scout, 2 veteran, and 129 merit badges.

All district boards had splendid meetings during the early part of June in the towns of Bristol, Newtown, Doylestown, Quakertown and Riegelsville. Scouting units are making progress in solving their problems and have an improvement in boy leadership through the enthusiastic work of the leaders and committeemen. The reports of the district were given by

ARREST FOUR MEN IN CONNECTION WITH ILLEGAL LIQUOR

Yardley Constable and Three Bristol Men Under Heavy Bail

INDICTMENTS SECRET

It Is Alleged the Group Was Connected With Alcohol Ring

By International News Service
PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—Three Bristol men and a Yardley constable were held in $35,000 bail here late yesterday after their arrest yesterday morning by Federal agents of the Alcohol Tax Unit. The four men were taken into custody on secret indictments.

Those under arrest are: Thomas South, Yardley. Alesio Lanza, Alfred Dalfonso, Angelo Stallone, all of Bristol.

The prisoners were brought here and taken before United States Commissioner William Wacker in the Federal building and held on secret indictments.

The Federal agents charge that the men conspired to defraud the government of taxes in the illegal manufacture of alcohol.

Each of the three Bristol men were held in $10,000 bail each and South's bail was fixed at $5,000.

After the hearing yesterday the men were placed in cells in the Federal building until they could procure bail. If bail is not procured they will be transferred to Moyamensing Prison.

According to rumor it is said that South is charged with selecting still sites for members of the big interstate liquor ring and allowing illegal liquor to be stored in his garage.

It was stated at Yardley by David Anderson, president of Yardley Borough Council, that South was discharged as chief of police three months ago in an economy move. South served as chief of police for nine years.

Lanza and Stallone are charged with financing illegal liquor operations. Dalfonso is accused of acting as truck driver for the ring.

GOING WITHOUT THINGS

Youth is dazzled by the glitter of modern life. Youth sees the fast spinning and smooth purring automobiles, and it longs for them with an unquenchable desire.

The youth of a certain type feels he must shine in the eyes of the girl friend. He wants to impress her with his power and daring. He sees the shiny automobile standing in the street. He probably has no intention of stealing it for money, but he thinks a little joy ride won't hurt it or the owner any. So he takes the car, has a night of glory, and for the moment his desire is satisfied.

Those desires don't remain satisfied long. There are race tracks to be visited, dance halls to be enjoyed, gambling rooms where he longs to test his luck. Money must be had. Many American youths would rather be dead than be without it.

The youth of a generation ago was keen for money, but the need for it did not seem so urgent. The idea of hiring a horse and taking a slow old ride around the country might have been pleasing. But it was not so fascinating but what the boy could get along without it. Many boys were content just to stand on the curbstone then, spit in the gutter, and exchange racy stories. It was not an elevating life, but it did not cost much, and did not create that intense desire for money that exists now.

It is one of the essentials of life to learn how to get along without the things that are beyond our reach. The way to learn that is to find how many good things are within our reach. There are many better things than money, within reach of everyone.

The boy who can play a star game of baseball, and is the hero of his school team, for instance, is happier than the one with a purse full of money. Turn the boy's mind to the things he can reach and show him what a good time he can have getting them, and his future will be safe.

DEATH FROM HEAT

When the sun god shoots his fierce arrows down on our baked earth, it is a day of trial for the weak and feeble. Many who seem strong and vigorous suffer shock.

When the thermometer gets way up above 100 the United States can hardly consider itself in the temperate zone. If such weather were to continue indefinitely, the American people would lose their power of action and accomplishment, and sink to a low place in competition with countries which are favorably located.

The old broad brimmed straw hat used to be called a wonderful protection in hot weather. The farm hand could mow his hay quite comfortably under its shading blade. The old-timers used to put the broad leaves of the rhubarb and the burdock in their hats, and the thick fiber cooled their fiery brows. Folks on the shady side of 50, and those not used to high power sunlight should go slow on such days.

Europe is in a mood to live dangerously. So a British plane manufacturer scorns to call a new model "foolproof" and names it The Topsy.

About the limit in evasion would be eluding the collector on a yacht you had incorporated for $3,000,000 to escape taxes.

You, also, can be popular. People love their dogs because the dogs never criticize or complain.

Behind the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD—Out of the Harlow tragedy comes the big break for Alice Faye. She'll get the part Jean was to have played in "In Old Chicago".

Alice was sitting in an executive's office when they told her she would be tested for the role. While she was still there, Tyrone Power came in. "Please," he said, "let me make the test with Alice."

The blonde star burst into tears of gratitude.

It was a strange reversal of a scene that happened last year. Then, Power, a virtual unknown, was making a test for "Loyds of London". So he could be more at ease, Alice Faye volunteered to make it with him.

Pity the dilemma of Dance Director Busby Berkeley.

He has built a grand stairway, 45 feet wide and rising in 219 steps to the top of a Warner Brothers sound stage—and now he can't find the girls to fill it. "This superset, for the picture, 'Varsity Show', looked absolutely bare with Berkeley's 200 girls distributed on the stairway. A hurry call brought 100 more girls from Dance Director Bobby Connolly, also of Warners. Still the stairway was only half filled.

His dream set threatening to become a nightmare, Director Berkeley probably will issue a general call for beauties.

And then, to top "Varsity Show", some other studio will have to take the roof off a sound stage and build a stairway once again as high as Berkeley's.

The stone for Anne Shirley's engagement ring will be a four and one-half carat diamond from the strong boxes of the Payne family down in Richmond. Fiance John Howard Payne has more than an heirloom diamond to offer in the way of background. His great-great-grandfather, another John Howard Payne, was the wandering actor and dramatist who wrote that classic of nostalgic songs, "Home Sweet Home".

Answering Your Questions! R. W. Sobolonsky, Brooklyn: The comparatively small price of $50,000 was paid for the screen rights to "Gone With the Wind" because David Selznick bought it from the galley proofs before the novel was published. Margaret Mitchell got the whole amount.

The water from springs on Richard Dix's ranch tests so high in health value that promoters urged the star to bottle and sell it. Dix smilingly declined.

"No, gentlemen," he said, "I've just spent a lot of money launching a dairy venture here. What will patrons think if I take on water as a sideline?"

An untemperamental youngster, by all accounts, is Freddie Bartholomew. The youthful star finally did blow up, however, to M. G. M. officials. He demanded that his dressing room be changed from a floor supposed to be devoted exclusively to feminine stars. Amused, his bosses are giving him one close to Gable's, Tracy's and Taylor's.

Chatter. . . Claudia Morgan did her last scene at Universal in "That's My Story" and airplaned out of here to her bridegroom, Charles Hornberg, Jr. . . Her pals gave her a shower at the airport. . . Paula Stone's red hair has turned to blonde. . . The movies have grabbed Lucille Johnson, pretty singer at the Paradise restaurant in New York.

She'll come to the coast in a couple of months. Grace Bradley, Dixie Dunbar and Irma Wilson are other Paradise graduates in Hollywood. . . Deanna Durbin celebrated her birthday with a party at the Vendome. . . George Hamilton's band, at the Beverly Wilshire, is the newest to lure the local dancers. Isabel Jewell and Owen Crump were together again there opening night. And the lad with Rochelle Hudson was Fred Van Buren.

CHAPTER I

ON a certain terrace of the famous hotel Duna-Palota, where at tea time smart women show off stupid dogs and forget even stupider husbands, three uniformed officers and two civilians sat drinking cocktails about a table which commanded an excellent view of the swiftly flowing Danube.

It was that hour when the setting sun was gliding the age-old Gothic spires of Buda, and tinting with red the roofs of the empty Hapsburg palaces on the heights. Passing beyond these relics of imperial grandeur it cast oblique golden rays through the fresh leafy branches to touch the gold braid on Count Alexander Exler's green uniform with a brush of fire. It drew sparkling high lights from the slender cocktail glasses, from silver scattered in disorder among the ash trays and made a brave brilliance among the decorations decking the horizon blue chest of Captain Robert d'Armonot, military attaché at the French Ministry.

Though the terrace was becoming deserted, the group about that particular table apparently had no intention of leaving their half-finished cocktails.

Ian Gray, First Secretary to his Excellency, the American Minister, sipped the last of his Clover Club almost lazily, then drawled:

"Oh, you idiots and your eternal drivel about pretty women. I could forgive you if you didn't always exaggerate. You're always promising to produce Venus herself and all I find is Lilth or Mademoiselle Nitouche."

"So?" Captain d'Armonot's slender black brows shot upwards in a quizzical grin. "Mon Dieu, but you are blasé. There's no satisfying you."

Across the table from the other civilian sat a blonde young man well built and with eyes that were sensitive and softly blue. His was a well-shaped, but none too forceful a mouth, and chin. He raised his glass and said with a casualness that was at once noticeable:

"In that case—here's to the hour Ian Gray meets the all conquering and captivating Lolita! I'll bet she'd make even our fed-up and thrill-seeking Ian sit up, bark for a biscuit, roll over and play dead."

"I fancy not," drawled the fourth member of the party, a long-limbed Englishman who, on the lapels of his perfectly fitting khaki uniform, wore the metal dragon insignia of the Welsh Fusiliers. "Despite all Ian's careful camouflage about being a faded rout of a heart breaker, I've an idea he's still very much the rock-bound puritan at heart."

A slow tide of color swept into the clean-shaven lean cheeks of the man called Ian Gray, and lit a deep set half moon scar on the point of a jaw that was strong without being obstinate or sullen. Like an amiable bear he settled his broad six feet of brown clad body back into a wholly inadequate looking wicker chair as a ripple of laughter arose from the table and Count Exler threw back his head to address a starling in a tree overhead.

"A rock-bound puritan! There is a story for you, little bird." He chuckled until the gold epaulettes on his shoulders winked in the sunlight like a thousand bright eyes. "A rock-bound puritan. Herr lieber Gott! What would Mancel, Ilon and—"

"Allez! Have you no shame?" reproved Captain d'Armonot over his golden brown Martini. "Why recite the decalogue of the wretched fellow's affaires du coeur?"

"Nevertheless," insisted Major Harris, the dark-haired Welshman, "I know our little Ian."

"Ah, but you won't if he meets the ravishing Lolita," persisted Count Exler. "She is charming, and a little dangerous, eh Leonard, my brave?"

The young man in the rather shiny, dark-blue civilian suit looked up, flushing a little. "Oh go to the devil, Roberte—she—well, I've found she isn't a bit as rumor describes her."

"Eh?" Ian Gray leaned forward, his even white teeth glimmering in a wholly American grin. "What's this, Leonard? Are you standing up for this international heart-breaker?"

The other glanced up, a sudden severity in his pale blue eyes. "Oh shut up, Soldat! You're like all the rest." He leaned forward, eager as a school-boy. "I tell you the Countess Lolita has been lied about—she's sweet, absolutely unaffected, and charming. I—I'd stake my life on it."

An uncomfortable silence crept over the table, as Captain d'Armonot stopped laughing to put down his cocktail glass rather suddenly. He leaned forward and his brown face was troubled.

"Ecoutez, mon ami, take a word from one who knows. The Countess Lolita is charming, no doubt, and very beautiful, but alas! unluckily to know. Eh, Alexander?" He shot a shrewd glance at the Hungarian officer who, very dashing in his black glass as Leonard Holt upset his cocktail glass and jumped to his feet, his sensitive features stiffened and flooded with angry color. With an apparent effort he restrained a torrent of words and said:

"Oh shut up! You're talking like malicious old women. You know nothing about the real Lolita—she, she's pure and good! Like bayonets, his pale blue eyes thrust at the startled but half-amused group. "Do you understand? I won't listen to such talk. Lolita couldn't do such things and I—I'm damned if I'll stand for it."

Ian got up quickly and, towering over the slighter figure like a benevolent giant, placed a soothing hand

"Take it easy, Len," Ian advised. "You're getting warmed up about nothing. She doesn't mean anything to your young life."

frogged pale green uniform, was staring fixedly out over the Danube. His dark head inclined. "Leonard, Valasto might tell you some interesting things, Leonard, but unfortunately he blew out his brains in Vienna last month—at the far end of the Prater, I believe."

Ian Gray was still smiling, but into his eyes had crept a gleam of anxiety. That was quite an outburst for the usually unemotional Leonard Holt—especially since he was very definitely and, presumably, happily engaged to the beautiful Ilya Zichomy, only daughter of a very important Minister in the affairs of the kingless kingdom of Hungary.

"Now that you speak of it," nodded Major Harris deliberately, "seems to me that's the same charming little lady who kicked up such a hubbly in Bucharest. Quite a turned the diplomatic corps on their respected ears, don't you know? As my American cousins Ian and Leonard would say, she 'vamped' one of our under-secretaries into all kinds of foolish indiscretions. What the ultimate one was, I don't know, but she dropped poor Willoughby like a hot penny after she'd made a complete damn fool of him. There must have been something more serious to it all, else there's no accounting for the way he suddenly dropped out of sight. It's all very well to laugh and joke about these things, but there is no point in deliberately putting one's head into a noose."

A slight chill made Ian shiver and he suddenly noted that the sun had disappeared behind the palaces on the hill across the river.

"There are other rumors, too," commenced d'Armonot thoughtfully. "We in the government are well informed. So I state on good authority that the Countess von Walden brought about a certain stupid, but fatal duel."

There sounded a tinkle of broken

BRISTOL COURIER

Lower Bucks County's Only Daily Newspaper

Yes, the Director of the Family Budget has discovered a valuable secret when she passed the word along that she shops with the Courier!

She read the advertisements in this paper with care and consideration. They form her research data. By means of them she makes her purchases so that she well deserves the title of "Director of the Family Budget." She discovers item after item as the years roll on, and the friends who learn her secret are happy, indeed.

With approximately 3500 families getting the Courier every week-day, which means 14,000 readers, merchants will find that it has pulling power to make new friends, new customers and new profits, just as the housewife has found that she can shop with greater ease and greater savings by reading the Bristol Courier.

Walter W. Pitonka, Lower Bucks; Edmund H. Lovett, Delaware Valley; Hon. Calvin S. Boyer, Middle Bucks; Paul R. Sine, North Penn; and Scout Executive William F. Livermore, Delaware River.

Jamboree plans are about completed through the energetic work of the committee led by Thomas Ross. A banquet is being planned for the members of the Bucks County delegation on their return. The success of the camporee in having 233 Scouts as members of 46 patrols was related.

From the suggestions of the Camp Committee, as related by Chairman Edward W. Fell, it has been decided that the Memory Lane for deceased Cubs, Scouts, Seascouts and Scouters should be located on the trail from the tree line to the entrance of the ceremonial grounds. Units are to have the opportunity of supplying the markers and purchase trees for the memorials. It will be possible for the members of the family of the deceased to provide them. A grove of 60 evergreens will be planted at Buccoo this Summer through the efforts of Walter W. Pitonka, and will be paid for by those purchasing trees as memorials. The Order of the Arrow is going to develop a recreation room in the basement of Good Times Hall for their activities.

In the absence of Chairman Arthur M. Eastburn, District Commissioner Herbert A. Pettit, Sr., made the announcement that on Sunday a hike, nature study, visitors' chapel and an evening sing will be the new features on the program. Troops will be asked to bring over-night patrol equipment with them. Each district is to be given a day for the coming to Buccoo of individuals in their district for visits to the camp.

Judge Calvin S. Boyer made an extensive report on the mobilization plan that will make it possible for 400 to 700 individuals in the Bucks County Scout Council to quickly mobilize for an emergency. Cubbing activities are making fine progress and plans for the annual Wigwam at Perkasee on Saturday, July 31st, are progressing.

clans of the council for their fine cooperation. A fire-fighting corps will be developed for the protection of Buccoo Camps during the camping season. Commodore Thomas B. Stockham expressed his admiration for the fine work being done by the skippers of the council. The relationship of the council and its delegation to the National Jamboree at Washington, D. C., from June 26th to July 9th, was discussed by Scout Executive William F. Livermore. He presented blue prints and organizational material that presented the part the members of the local council will take at the national convention.

EXPECT BIG CROWD AT ST. ANN'S BOUTS TONIGHT

The largest crowd of the season is expected to witness the amateur boxing show being conducted tonight in the St. Ann's Athletic Association outdoor arena. Wood and Franklin streets. There will be twelve bouts in all with the sanction of the Middle Atlantic district of the A. A. U. The bouts were originally scheduled to be held Monday night but were called off because of rain.

The main bout of the night, "Vince" Della, St. Ann's southpaw, will have Herbie White, Arena, as his foe. Both White and Della weighed in Monday night and were pronounced perfectly fit by Dr. I. Joseph Levy, the A. A. U. physician. This has the appearance of being one of the best bouts ever booked here as Della has beaten two of the best boys in his class in "Happy" Riddle and Benny Arrizzi, and White was the former champ in this division.

"Hokey" Leighton, with four straight wins to his credit, meets Johnny Marchione, hard-hitting right-hander from the Penmar Club. Leighton stole the show in Willow Grove last Friday night with his showing against Al Miller, who was a semi-finalist in a recent tournament in Philadelphia. Leighton will have his hands full in attempting to beat Marchione who has several years of experience in the amateur circles.

A newly-crowned 160-pound champion, Herman Gowdy, Corsac, will make his appearance here. Gowdy, who represented the Philadelphia Inquirer in a tournament in New York, is matched with Willie Collins, Arena. Gowdy won over Collins to win the 160-pound championship of the Eastern district.

Sammy Sindora and Joseph Ferrara, two other St. Ann's mittmen, have as their foes, Johnny Parrente and Sammy Livingston, respectively. Sindora and Ferrara have only fought once here, and won. Ferrara won his bout at Willow Grove last week.

The first bout will start at 8:30 o'clock sharp.

LEGION JUNIORS DEFEAT McCALL POST NINE HERE

(By Chart Tomlinson)
In his first attempt to gain his first win of the season, Joe LaPolla proved rather successful as he set down his opponents with seven hits and one run, which was a creditable feat as this was his first start of the season. He pitched the first three innings of the game when "Ot" Grimes took up the mound chores from the fourth to the sixth. In the seventh, Karl Leinheiser took the mound to retire his opponents. The other two runs were scored off "Ot" Grimes.

Bristol was the first to score when in the first inning, Dick, first up, reached first on an error by the left fielder, Spencer sacrificed him to second and Barbetta scored him with a smashing single to center, the ball rolling through the center fielder, giving him a triple. He scored a moment later when Tomlinson scored him with a hit to center also. Ludwig advanced Tomlinson to second on a single to right. LaPolla advanced when he rolled to first. Barroth sent both Tomlinson and Ludwig home with a ringing single to center, thus ending the scoring for that inning.

McCall scored one run in their half of the third. Crone opened the inning with a free ticket to first. Burton advanced him to second on a single to third base. Smith fanned. Gekoski scored Crone with a single to right.

Tonight on Landreth's field the Bristolians will cross bats with their bitter opponents, Perkasio. The localites will be seeking revenge, as in a previous engagement with this club on their home diamond, their star hurler, Joe Harr, who will do the hurling tonight, struck out 18 of the local boys. Also, this club is in first place, one-half game ahead of the home-town boys. Leinheiser will do the pitching for the Bristolians.

The game will get under way at 6:15, promptly.

BRADDOCK, KNOCKED OUT, TAKES THE COUNT

HIBERNIANS CROWNED FIRST-HALF CHAMPIONS

The Hibernians were crowned the first half champions of the Bristol Twilight League when they won over the Odd Fellows, 8-3, last night, on the Edgely ball field. The Odd Fellows finished the first half in second place.

When "Bill" Gallagher appeared to be weakening in the third, Manager Delaney yanked him in favor of Eddie Sullivan. Sullivan received credit for the victory. Gallagher allowed two hits during his tenure while Sullivan was nipped for six, three of which were manufactured in the last frame.

TO STAGE 5TH WEEK OF PENN-JERSEY CIRCUIT

The fifth week of the rip-roaring Penn-Jersey Harness Horse Circuit, which began at Langhorne Decoration Day week-end, will be staged over the State Fair Grounds oval at Trenton beginning tomorrow for the three day meet.

Tomorrow's card includes the two-year-old trot, the three-year-old pace, and the 2:23 pace. Large fields in each event will predominate and the best drivers in the East will participate for over $3500 in purses and trophies.

After four weeks of racing, only one steed remains undefeated. She is Symbol Piney, who had a narrow squeak in the two-year-old pace at Hatfield on Saturday when she dropped the second heat to Southern Lad.

To date the Circuit holds the season's records for the fastest pacing and trotting mile over a half mile track as well as the fastest three-year-old pacing mile of the season, 2:08, made at Hatfield by Dalehurst from Hollicong, Pa.

Three events will go on Friday, namely: the two-year-old pace, three-year-old trot, and 2:23 pace, while Saturday will be a busy one with four races scheduled. It was in the 2:13 pace that the season's best time was made by Gloria Hanover and she will start Saturday. Racing starts at two p. m. each day and a low gate will prevail.

PERKASIE JUNIOR NINE TO PLAY BRISTOL TEAM

Tonight the Bristol American Legion Juniors will play the league-leading Perkasio team at Landreth Ball Park.

A victory for Bristol will put them in first place. This team is the only one to defeat Bristol, the score being 3 to 1.

Carl Leinheiser, now recovered from a sore arm, will do the pitching, with Tomlinson catching.

Perkasie will bring at least 100 people with them to cheer their team along.

COLLEGE GRADS IN DEMAND

AMHERST, Mass. (INS) — "Business concerns are looking for college trained men," according to Emory E. Grayson, director of the placement service of Massachusetts State College, who declared: "It's a good year for college graduates seeking jobs."

"Young men are realizing," he said, "that they must show more than a college diploma to a prospective employer." He explained that, "Thanks to the depression, much of the 'cockiness' has been knocked out of the graduates seeking jobs."

BRAGG PITCHES NO-RUN, NO-HIT GAME; SCORE, 5-0

"Johnny" Bragg, colored moundsman for the Superior Zinc Company nine, entered the Bristol Twilight League mythical hall of fame last evening as he pitched a no-run, no-hit, victory over the Grundy Mill team on Leedom's field. Final score was 5-0.

Bragg only allowed two players to reach first and they got there as the result of passes. No runner reached second base and not one ball was hit to the outfield. Incidentally, it was Bragg's second straight shutout victory, he having stopped the Hibernians without a run last week.

On the strikeout list, Bragg totaled nine and from the first until the sixth, he retired sixteen batters in order. The only sock that resembled a hit was Monachello's drive near second base in the third which was scooped by Stallone for an out at first.

The losers had Joe Antonelli on the hill and in four innings, he allowed but a lone hit. However, he weakened in the last two frames to allow four runs and six hits.

The triumph gave the Superior Zinc team third place in the league standing for the first half.

LOUIS KNOCKS OUT BRADDOCK FOR CROWN

CHICAGO, June 23—Joe Louis at Comiskey Park last night won the heavyweight championship of the world when he knocked out Jimmy Braddock, in Braddock's first defense of his title he won from Max Baer.

The fight lasted eight rounds. Braddock balanced the beam at 197, to 197½ for Louis. Weather conditions could not have been more auspicious. After a week of rain, chilling winds one day and blistering heat the next, there wasn't a cloud in the sky, and the temperature stayed at about 65.

The attendance was estimated at 55,000 with receipts at $750,000. The referee was Tommy Thomas.

ROUND ONE—Both came out and met in the exact center of the ring. Braddock sent a hard right to the chin and missed. Joe landed a hard right to the chin which staggered Jim and he stepped back and blinked. Jim appeared right-hand crazy. He missed several roundhouse rights. Jim landed a left jab. Joe scored a wicked right to the chin which shook up the champ. Joe hooked a left to temple, high. Joe scored with a right to the jaw, forcing Jim to the ropes. Joe staggered his man with a right to the chin. Jim was staggering, defenseless. A flurry of jabs and right crosses sent Jim to ropes. Jim was taking a terrific beating. His chin was an open target and Joe socked him with rights and lefts, scoring every time he led. The fight had turned into a slaughter. Jim struck out feebly with rights and lefts. Jim's face was a horrible sight as Joe ripped and cut him with hooks and jabs. Louis' round.

ROUND TWO—Louis came running out and both began to slug each other wildly. Joe appeared unharmed. Jim's face was red. Jim missed a terrific right to the chin. Louis was wide open for the blow. Both boys were slugging furiously for an early knockout. Jim pounded Louis high on the temple with his right. Joe scored a light left hook to the face. Jim whipped a vicious left to the stomach. Joe pulled up his trunks. Louis missed another hard right to the chin. They were firing rights and lefts for each other's jaws. Jim landed a left hook to the face high on the cheek. Jim's roundhouse right was missing over Joe's head. Two rights to the chin staggered the champ. Braddock babbled as he walked to his corner. Louis' round.

ROUND THREE—Louis dashed out and poked his left in Jim's face, which was red and swollen. Jim began to bleed over his left eye. Joe began to dance around his man and jabbed him for the first time. Jim missed another wild right and pounded Joe in the stomach. Both scored in a clinch. It was a rough, bruising brawl. Joe scored two lefts to the chin. Jim's nose grew red from the peppering of lefts. Joe sent a wicked left to the pit of the stomach. Jim scored with a right to the chin. Joe rolled with the punch. Joe rocked Jim with a short chop to the jaw as Jim plowed in. Louis' round.

ROUND FIVE—Jim threw another right and scored with a left hook in the clinch. Joe's nose began to bleed. Joe appeared to be bothered with his bleeding nose, forcing the blood out. Joe continued to pop his left. Jim caught a half dozen lefts without a return. Both men's faces bled furiously. Jim scored with a corkscrew right to the chin. Jim smashed Joe's mouth with a right uppercut as Joe dropped into a clinch. Jim was scoring better with a short chopping right and an uppercut. Braddock's round.

ROUND SIX—Joe poked a left to the stomach. Jim shot a left to the nose. Jim's hard right landed on Joe's shoulder. Joe continued to circle and jab, scoring to the stomach and head. Joe missed a hard right chop to the chin. Joe scored with a vicious right to the chin. Joe staggered the champ with a left hook to the chin. Joe fought off a long rally and went back to jab Jim's nose. Jim's lip and nose were split by two hard rights to the head. Jim was groggy. Joe beat his man mercilessly. Jim staggered back on his heels. His face a gory sight. Jim was near a knockout at the bell and staggered to his corner. Louis' round.

ROUND SEVEN—Jim came out, throwing everything he had. Jim scored with a right to the jaw, forcing Joe to the ropes. Joe staggered his man with a right to the chin. Jim was staggering, defenseless. A flurry of jabs and right crosses sent Jim to ropes. Jim was taking a terrific beating. His chin was an open target and Joe socked him with rights and lefts, scoring every time he led. The fight had turned into a slaughter. Jim struck out feebly with rights and lefts. Jim's face was a horrible sight as Joe ripped and cut him with hooks and jabs. Louis' round.

ROUND EIGHT—Jim came out, bleeding. His seconds were unable to patch him up. Joe ment.

changed a right to the chin. Joe was sharp-shooting his right each time. He landed it high on the cheek. Braddock was knocked down with a right to the chin. Braddock was counted out. Time was 1:21.

FOUR TENNIS MATCHES PLAYED IN TOURNAMENT

Last night on the Elks courts three more first round matches were played and one was finished which was halted by rain on Monday.

In the latter match "Fred" Davies defeated "Bill" Conca, 6-3, 7-5.

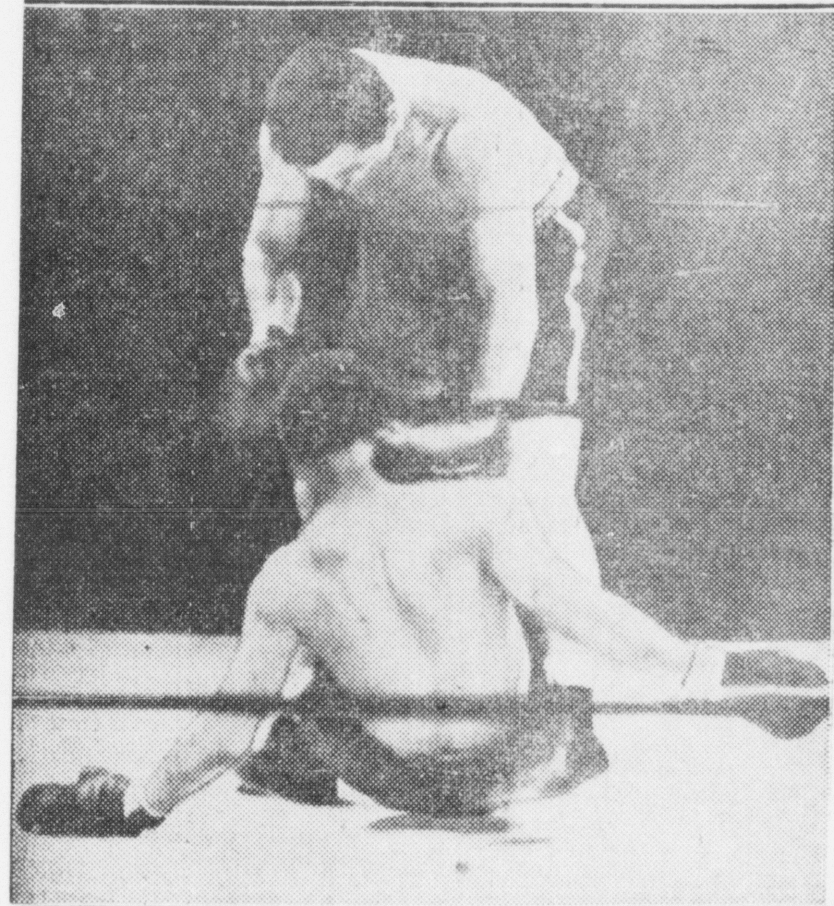

In the other matches "Brad" Ardrey defeated Carl DeGanahl, 6-1, 6-1; Wayne Fry ousted "Joe" Kallenbach, and in a match lasting close to two hours, "Wally" Windus just managed to win over "Joe" Matulaitis by the score of 6-1, 3-6, 11-9.

Tonight more matches will be played at 6:30 with more to follow on Thursday evening.

MAYFAIR TO PLAY HERE

Tonight on Leedom's ground the strong Mayfair team of the Quaker City League will cross bats with the Bristol A. A. team at 6:30 sharp. "Hal" Snyder will toss them up for the local club with Dougherty on the receiving end. The Mayfair club has one of the best teams in Philadelphia this season, boasting of the best pitcher in Horst, former Bucknell College in the semipro ranks. Bristol team will travel to Camden on Sunday to play the 12th ward of that place. Several new men will appear in Bristol line-up this week.

LOUIS DOWN IN FIRST

Joe Louis was knocked down in the first round by Jimmy Braddock in their savage heavyweight championship battle at Chicago. The champ floored the challenger with a hard right to the head, but Louis got up before a count could be started. The contender then pounded away at the champion's chin and body with such terrific force that Braddock was out on his feet in the seventh, and took the count in the eighth.
